REPORTS OF DEPARTMENTS.

The following are abstracts of the Reports of Departments accompanying the President's Message, excepting the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, which will be published in a future issue.

Department of the Interior.

The condition and prospect of the Indians occupy a good portion of Secretary Deland's report. He favors the policy of gathering all tribes into one great Reserve.

Leaving out the 75,000 Indians of Alaska, the Secretary figures the rest of the aboriginal people in the Republic at 242,371. To provide for the distribution of these, he suggests that the Indian Territory, west of the Missouri and Arkansas rivers, and of Kansas, with an area of 44,154,240 acres, would afford 180 acres of land, per capita, for the entire number were all gathered there.

The various tribes have raised during the year agricultural products to the value of more than ten millions of dollars worth of farm produce. There are 216 schools among the Indian tribes, with 328 teachers, and an average attendance of 8,920 pupils.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office sold during the fiscal year for cash 1,389,822 acres of public lands, and there were disposed of by contract to railroads during the same period, 2,911,938 acres. By homestead entries and other ways the total was increased 10,606,792 acres, an increase, as compared with the preceding year, of 511,379 acres. There were filed in the year ending September 30, 1871, 19,429 applications for patents, including reissues and designs. Twelve thousand nine hundred and fifty patents, including reissues and designs were issued.

The number of pensions of all classes granted during the past fiscal year was 17,000. During the same period there were dropped from the pension rolls, from various causes, 8,251, leaving a grand total of 207,485 pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1872. The average annual rate of $22,504,994. There are now on file, unadjusted, 33,182 claims for invalid pensions, and 55,497 claims for widows, orphans and dependents. The total number of claims is 88,679.
It is estimated that $30,480,000 will be required for the pension service for the next fiscal year.

One of the changes in the Census bureau of the War Department last year were recommended by the Secretary.

The Army.

The strength of the Army of the U. S., is 30,000 men. The expenditures of the War Department for the year were about $40,000,000, nearly one half less than in 1869.

For the next fiscal year 1872-73 there are appropriated $36,530,776, including for river and harbor improvements, $4,407,500.

The Corps of Engineers during the past year has been actively engaged upon the works for the defense of our seacoasts, on river and harbor improvements, and in surveys and reconnais-sances, and construction of lighthouses.
With the appropriations granted for such purposes, the Corps of Engineers has been enabled to push forward the works along the Northern Atlantic and Pacific coasts have been pushed forward in their modifications as rapidly as circumstances would permit, and already the batteries are beginning to assume the character needed by the requirements of modern warfare.

During the fiscal year small arms and ordnance stores to the amount of $10,000,000 have been sold, and the entire proceeds, except a small sum have passed into the Treasury. The operations at the arsenals have been confined to the manufacture of supplies required by the troops, to the care of stores on hand, and to the manufacture of one or two experimental gun-carriages.

Secretary Robeson, in view of the recent defection of the army Paymaster, announces his purpose of putting in operation a system of checks upon disbursing officers which he believes will make the improper use of money public and secure the integrity of the public funds.

He says that no system can be devised which will make embezzlement under all circumstances impossible; but with detection morally certain, and with punishment sure and speedy, there can be no safety for fraud. The report also emphasizes the value of the Signal Service to the country.

The Navy.

Secretary Robeson furnishes the information that the navy of the United States now consists of 179 ships of all classes and conditions, and that there are sailing vessels and the remainder steamers of various classes, including 52 monitors, all of which but one are laid up in ordinary. We have 63 vessels in service, and 116 in reserve, and these are armed with 801 guns, six others are fitting out and nearly ready for sea. The offensive strength of the Navy at the present moment is represented by the 116 vessels in commission, comprising in the aggregate 40 vessels and 445 guns. The Secretary suggests a gradual reduction in number of officers, partly by adding two years to the term of study at Annapolis, and partly by allowing the grades of Admiral, Vice-Admiral, and Commodore to lapse with the lives of the present incumbents. His calculates we shall save about $500,000 a year and disburse with nearly 300 unnecessary officers.

With regard to the Korean expedition, the Secretary furnishes the following information: The Korean expedition, which was authorized by the latest dispatches indicate that though the direct object of the expedition has failed, yet the punishment which was inflicted upon our treacherous assailants, and the brave conduct of our forces, have not failed to make an impression upon the people of the Chinese coast, and to contribute materially in its effects to the consideration of comfort and perhaps to the safety of our citizens located there.

The total expenditures of the Navy Department since the last report have been $19,265,240, and the appropriations for the current fiscal year amount to $20,984,717.

The Post Office.

Secretary Creswell again recommends the repeal of the franking privilege, and also advocates the adoption of the postal telegraph system and post-office saving banks in this country. The department is not yet self-supporting, the receipts of the last fiscal year being $20,037,045, and the expenditures, $24,300,104.

The new railroad routes put in operation during the year 1871 amounted to 3,107 miles, ending 194,741 miles; and during 1869, to 2,510 miles—making in the aggregate an addition in three years of 18,810 miles to the 26,018 miles in operation on July 1, 1868.

To account of the progress of the gratifying regularity of the mail service between New York and San Francisco, and says that the average time, going east, was 169 hours, 45 minutes, or days, 7 hours, 45 minutes, and nearly three hours less than the average the preceding year. The shortest time, going west, was 162 hours.

On the 31st of July, 1871, $76 additional money-orders were established, so that the whole number of domestic money-orders issued during the year was 2,151,794, the aggregate value of which was $22,104,118.

The number of letters of missing letters during the year is 4,600, of which 2,057 were registered and 2,543 unregistered, containing bonds, drafts and currency to the nominal amount of $418,748. Of nearly 100,000 letters were accounted for as received at their destination, and only 288 have been received as actually lost. The remaining cases are in the hands of special agents for investigation.

The postal laws 123 persons have been arrested, of whom 51 have been convicted and sentenced. The lands in the hands of the Government for the purpose of making a better medium of exchange, and the number of the postal laws reported for 1870.

Letters received at the dead letter office during the year were 1,936,820 over the number reported for 1870.

Registered domestic letters containing bonds, drafts and currency, to the nominal amount of $19,204. Of these, 17,082, containing $74,420 were delivered to the writers or persons to whom they were addressed.

Respecting the number of domestic letters sent, some idea may be had from the fact that in 52 cities where the free delivery system is in operation, there were delivered 1,000,000 letters delivered by carriers. The total force in the employ of the Department is 45,954 persons.

The Storm Predicted.

The Sacramento Union has this to say about it: "The storm that combined a week ago, and predicted from indications telegraphed up to this coast to the Signal Service office at Washington. We are notified by dispatch that a storm of rain, accompanied by high winds, is predicted for LEAP-YEAR PARTY.—A number of the young ladies of Woodland, taking advantage of the privilege universally accorded their sex one year in four, have determined to get up a pleasant Leap-Year Party, for which invitations will be issued by the Committee to ladies, who will procure their partners after the style of the sterner sex in ordinary years. The management of the affair is in the hands of ladies who know how to proceed, and we look for one of the nicest parties of the season. It will be held in Washington Hall, on Friday evening next, Jan. 12th. Wood & Simpson's band has been engaged for the occasion, and all the Committees appointed. Arrangements have also been made for supper, including which the price of tickets will only be $2.50.

NEW YEAR SERENADE.—Just before the final departure of the old year the great storm cleared away and sweet Luna shone out in all its brightness to welcome the glad new year. Notwithstanding the cold and mud, our new brass band was out and called at various residences, wakening their occupants with sweet strains of music. And the happy new year came to us after the above fashion—ushered in with music by our friends under the "soft silvery light of the moon."

NEW YEARS DAY.—The day passed off very quietly but pleasantly here. A number of gentlemen did the usual routine of "calling," and were received by the ladies and entertained with their choicest refreshments from cellar and larder, and all were made to realize that they had in fact found it, thus far, a happy new year.

RAINFALL IN YOLO.—We learn that by the rain gauge kept at Greene's ranch in this county, the amount of rain that has fallen this season, up to December 30th, is 18.85 inches—nearly up to the annual average for the last ten years, and more than twice as much as fell last winter.

TERM EXPIRED.—The term of office of County Judge Johnson and all the Justices of the Peace and School Superintendent of the County, expired with last year.

The Great Owl Trial.

As per announcement, the great trial of the accused Owl Sib, came off at the Court House on Saturday evening last, and before a larger audience than is often seen in Woodland. At an early hour the Court Room was filled and at half past seven o'clock there was not a vacant seat to be found. The audience was equally divided between the ladies and gentlemen, and all looking with anxious eyes for the approach of the Mighty Grand Sorecher Owl, his owlish followers and the poor featherless prisoner. A general fapping of wings and much whoo-whooping "on the outer walls" told us that these ancient midnight prowlers were about to enter the great forest of justice and perch themselves among us. The door opened and such a flock of hideous birds as never before, or may never again, flew around and settled about the nest of the great grand old Sorecher; and although the Doves, Magpies, Hawks and Crows applauded to the utmost of their ability, there was not a ruffled brow or cunning smile to be discovered on the countenances of any owl present.

The Mighty Sorecher, Henry, spread his wings and directed royal match owl Reid to open the Forest of Justice in the usual owlish manner for the trial, and cause all birds not of their tribe to roost in peace; to see that the officers and members of the mighty Convocation were properly tree-tied, and the limbs of the law in their holes. This being done, his royal bachelorship raised on his perch, flapped his wings again and whoo-whooped his joyous appreciation of the lovely scene. The jury were then ordered to perch themselves upon the right and be sworn by Prince de Quill Owl Fiske. Owls Bush, Winne, Tinkham, Spence and Reindollar answered the summons and gently roosted while his Mightiness Henry addressed them in gorgeous, if not sublime, language, which caused a merry fapping among the doves and much hilarity in the audience. The swearing in of the jury was decided a rich thing, and the reading of the indictment was full of fine local points. The G. G. S. O. here declared the Court duly opened and in readiness to have the case proceed.

Legal Owls Harper and Baker appeared for the prosecution, and Law Owls Lambert and Bush for the defence.

Law Owl Lambert opened the case with a very strong and emphatic talk, in which he claimed that the prisoner was irresistibly insane at the time he committed the joyous crime, and he hoped to produce such evidence as would clearly establish the fact non pro tunc. His appeal was exceedingly heartrending and not a wet eye "could have been seen" in the great forest. During the examination of the witnesses, many excellent hits were made, and several witnesses were impeached on the grounds of knowing nothing at all about the case. Among these wise hoo-ting testifiers we observed some of the first men of our town. There was owl Magee and Moore owl, a Bush owl, a Read owl, a Kean owl—too keen for the disciples of Blackstone—a Caldwell owl—who was as deaf as a post—a Cole owl, a Winne owl, and that good old owl (not the one that wore the long-tailed blue coat, and who departed this life some years since), Grimes. Legal Lambert here introduced the letters of condolence, which the prisoner had scratched the fair Ophelia, and had the jury been permitted to retire then they would certainly have brought in a verdict of "not guilty." They were exceedingly amusing in their character. The Law owls, hearing the click of filthy lucre hard by, had our Woodland banker snatched up as a witness, and although these Stephenses are powerful wily sort of birds, nothing could be wrung from the bank and his testimony appeared to the Court as a lottery. Squire Frost being the last witness, he made his testimony very frosty and crisp.

The case went to the jury, and the Harping owl sailed around their nest in a delightful manner, tearing out Civil Code into atoms. After harping on the subject of insanity for a few moments, he read his charge to the noble birds of the night, and retired to "his little bed." The Bush-owl then appeared and gave the dispensers of verdicts a regular brushing, full of witty points, and fopped upon the Harp-er of a thousand strings in a genuine Ole Bull style. Being a musical owl he played his part well and long. Legal Lambert, though not as meek as Mary's little lamb, lambled about and woke the drowsy jurors from a gentle dream by his frisky capers, and took the audience by storm. His logical illusions were very good and had great weight with the old Sorecher. The "Grey Eagle of the Pacific," Owl Baker, closed the argument before the jury in regular Websterian style, and in language that would have put many a bird to flight. His sympathetic appeal was the thing that baked the victim's goose.

There being nothing further to show up before the jury, the G. G. S. O. in a very modest and feeling charge, filled with magnanimous reflections upon the case in hand, ordered the jury to retire and bring in a verdict of guilty or not guilty, within one minute. Time being called, the royal snatch owl returned with the jury, but they were not able to find a verdict, whereupon his Judgeship compelled them to fly around until they did find one. In a short time they settled upon their perches with the desired instrument of "guilty," your Honor.

The scene which followed this solemn report, was sublime to behold. The prisoner, though an owl of great nerve, quailed in his nest, and showed signs of intense emotion upon his manly brow. Henry—not the IV.—the mighty ruler of the feather kingdom, winked and hooted out his joy at the brilliant prospect of denouncing one of the Latter Day Saints, and forthwith commanded the heart-broken Sib to stand up and receive his unmerciful but just sentence. The crestfallen victim rose like a Patrick Henry, and with a brow as clear as mud, with his two Blackstone friends on either side, and in the language of the illustrious Tweed said, "go on, for you know how it is yourself." Old Sorecher asked him if he had anything to say in his defense, or any just reason to offer why sentence should not now be passed upon him? He replied in the words of the poet, "I want to go home." The sentence was then pronounced in a very mild and affecting way by the Supreme Judge, and as near as we remember, was that "Sib should roost the cradle the remainder of his days, and that he should commence by giving a sample of his ability in that line to the Convocation now present."

In compliance with this sentence a cradle which contained a fine little babe, all wrapped up, was placed on the table in front of his royal highness, and while the Convocation sang a fine old dirge and amid the applause of the audience, the prisoner proceeded to carry out the sentence, with the assistance of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup agent.

The whole trial was conducted in true Parliamentary style, and was decidedly one of the most amusing affairs that has ever occurred in Woodland—even if it was an Owlish one.

FLATTERED OUT.—This pertinent title is from the Oakland News:

A little over four years ago the Republican party was flattered out by a fatal attempt to place Gorham, Carr-Stow and the rest of the tribe in possession of the State government. That was the act of folly which evoked Gov. Haught from obscurity and established a horde of Democratic vagabonds in the State Capitol. And now we beg to ask the Republican members of the Legislature whether it is good policy to try the same experiment again by electing Gorham's Man Friday to the United States Senate? If they wish the electoral vote of this State to be given to a Democratic candidate for the Presidency, all they have to do is to insult and defy the people in that insufferable manner, for everybody knows that to elect Gorham's man Sargent, is only paving the way for the election of Gorham in person.

REMOVED.—Nangle, the Anatomical

Boot Maker has removed his shop to the Good Templars' building, opposite Roberts' livery stable and west of the railroad. He will make fashionable boots to order that will fit like a charm. He respectfully invites the patronage of his old customers and the public in general.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Body and Mind Disease.

Such is dyspepsia. The stomach and the brain are so intimately allied for the one to suffer without the other, so the dyspepsia and dependency are inseparable. It may be added, too, that irritation of the stomach is almost invariably accompanied by irritation of the temper.

The invigorating and tranquilizing operation of Hostetter's Bitters is most powerfully developed in cases of indigestion. The first effect of this agreeable tonic is comforting and encouraging. A mild store pervades the system, the chronic uneasiness in the region of the stomach is lessened, and the nervous restlessness which characterizes the disease is transiently abated. This improvement is not transient, it is permanent by the return of the old symptoms with superadded force, as is always the case when unmedicated stimulants are given for the complaint. Each dose seems to impart a permanent accession of cheerfulness in the system. But this is not all. The aperient and anti-bilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary in importance to its tonic virtues. If there is an overflow of bile, the secretion is soon brought under control, and the liver organ is in a healthy condition. The effect upon the discharging organs is equally salutary, and in cases of constipation the evacuation is just sufficient to produce the desired result gradually and without pain. The Bitters also promote healthy evaporation from the surface, which is particularly desirable at this season when sudden spells of fever, and nervousness are up to check the natural perspiration and produce congestion of the liver, lungs, and colds. The best safeguard against all diseases is bodily vigor, and this the Great Vegetable Restorative especially promotes.

The cause of "Temperance" finds one of its most insidious foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicine. Dr. Walker's California Bitters are none of these. They are not a beverage, but are a genuine medicine, a vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. Cures of dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, liver and blood, they are an infallible and unrivaled remedy.
